Chapter 64: Bases and Strongholds of the Lesser Absolutes’ Forces

The Lesser Absolutes oversee vast armies within their realms, each force carefully organized and stationed across strategic locations. These strongholds and bases reflect their commanders' power and purpose, enhancing the strength and coordination of their respective forces.

---

1. Lumiel’s Army of Light (Luxoria Eterna)

Aetheric Citadel (Home of the Celestial Archons)

Description: The Aetheric Citadel is a monumental palace floating in the heart of Luxoria Eterna, shimmering with pure light. It is both a strategic command center and a place of worship for Lumiel’s most powerful warriors, the Celestial Archons. Towering spires radiate energy, and the vast halls are imbued with celestial magic, where the Archons hone their power.

Solaris Bastions (Stronghold of the Luminara Knights)

Description: Solaris Bastions are massive fortresses scattered across Luxoria Eterna, built atop sunlit mountain ranges and within radiating deserts. Each bastion is a defensive stronghold where the Luminara Knights are trained, fortified with solar-powered defenses. The knights stand watch, ready to defend against any threat from the realms of darkness.

Lumenforte (Base of the Lightborn Legion)

Description: Lumenforte is a sprawling, radiant city formed from pure light, where the Lightborn Legion gathers. Stretching across vast plains of gleaming, radiant ground, it is an endless city of light—its structures built from the essence of the stars. The Lightborn Legion, numbering in the trillions, is ever vigilant, ready to deploy across the cosmos.

Seraphic Skies (Enclave of the Seraphim Riders)

Description: Suspended high above the clouds of Luxoria Eterna, Seraphic Skies is a floating city where the Seraphim Riders train and prepare for their aerial patrols. Surrounded by aetheric winds, the riders on their winged mounts are always at the ready to strike from above, defending the realm against invaders or ensuring its expansion.

---

2. Umbrios’ Shadow Legion (Umbra Nexum)

Obsidian Throne (Fortress of the Shadow Warlords)

Description: The Obsidian Throne lies at the core of Umbra Nexum, a massive citadel forged from obsidian and infused with shadow energy. This fortress serves as the seat of power for the Shadow Warlords, where they govern the Legion and control the movements of their dark forces. The towering, jagged spires loom ominously over the surrounding darklands, a fitting reflection of their strength.

Noctis Citadel (Stronghold of the Ebon Knights)

Description: The Noctis Citadel is a shadowy fortress hidden deep within an abyss, where the Ebon Knights reside. Cloaked in perpetual darkness, this stronghold is surrounded by swirling vortexes and portals to unknown dimensions. Its halls are lined with black stone and lit by eerie violet flames, with the knights constantly guarding against interdimensional threats.

Umbra Vaults (Base of the Nocturnal Stalkers)

Description: The Umbra Vaults are vast, labyrinthine underground cities, where the Nocturnal Stalkers are trained and equipped for stealth missions. Within these darkened catacombs, each passage leads to a different dimension or world where the Stalkers can practice their art of ambush, infiltration, and subversion, preparing for their covert operations across the universe.

Nyx’s Fangs (Lair of the Nightshade Beasts)

Description: Nyx’s Fangs are massive, jagged peaks piercing the void of space, where the Nightshade Beasts are bred and kept. These colossal mountains are home to the terrifying shadow beasts, who are raised in the darkest corners of the universe. The Fangs are a place of raw, untamed power, where the beasts are trained for war and siege operations.

---

3. Drakion’s Draconic Host (Drakarys Aeterna)

Cinderspire (Fortress of the Draconian Overlords)

Description: The Cinderspire is a towering, fiery mountain that rises above the volcanic landscapes of Drakarys Aeterna. This is where the Draconian Overlords make their home and command their armies. The fortress is made of blackened stone and forged metal, with rivers of lava flowing through the halls, creating an aura of intense heat and power.

Emberhold (Bastion of the Flameborn Legionnaires)

Description: Emberhold is a vast, ever-burning stronghold located near the molten core of Drakarys Aeterna, where the Flameborn Legionnaires are stationed. Built from solid obsidian and reinforced by fire-forged metals, the massive citadel is constantly bathed in flames. The Flameborn Legionnaires, clad in molten armor, use the intense heat of the region to power their weapons and grow stronger.

Skyrage Pinnacle (Base of the Skybound Wyverns)

Description: The Skyrage Pinnacle is a massive floating fortress above the volcanic peaks of Drakarys Aeterna, where the Skybound Wyverns dwell. This fortress allows the wyverns to maintain aerial dominance, training for high-altitude combat and reconnaissance. The Pinnacle is a city of skyships, dragon riders, and wyverns ready to take flight at a moment's notice.

Inferno Forge (Lair of the Infernal Titans)

Description: Inferno Forge is an immense volcanic forge where the Infernal Titans are created and trained. Located in the heart of a dormant supervolcano, the Forge burns with the intensity of a thousand suns. The Titans, massive and powerful, are constructed from molten rock and fire, emerging from the Forge as living engines of destruction.

Summary of the Bases/Strongholds

Lumiel’s Army of Light (Luxoria Eterna)

Aetheric Citadel: 3.66 million Celestial Archons

Solaris Bastions: 366 billion Luminara Knights

Lumenforte: 36.6 trillion Lightborn Legion

Seraphic Skies: 1.83 billion Seraphim Riders

Umbrios’ Shadow Legion (Umbra Nexum)

Obsidian Throne: 18.3 million Shadow Warlords

Noctis Citadel: 183 billion Ebon Knights

Umbra Vaults: 3.66 trillion Nocturnal Stalkers

Nyx’s Fangs: 732 million Nightshade Beasts

Drakion’s Draconic Host (Drakarys Aeterna)

Cinderspire: 7.32 million Draconian Overlords

Emberhold: 366 billion Flameborn Legionnaires

Skyrage Pinnacle: 36.6 billion Skybound Wyverns

Inferno Forge: 366 million Infernal Titans

These strongholds are crucial for maintaining the Lesser Absolutes’ military power, acting as both training grounds and strategic hubs for their ever-growing armies. The names and locations of these bases reflect their creators’ immense power and influence, as well as their dedication to expansion and defense within the vast multiverse.